RED CROSS ASSURANCE
"There is no man who does not have dependents," said an army officer. "It is only a question of how many he has, and how dependent they are." The morale of the forces of the United States will, therefore, be determined largely by the manner in which the folks at home are fortified against the things which may happen to them. The soldier or the sailor must have the assurance that come what may, his family will have the counsel and the help which, were he at home, he himself would try to provide. This assurance the men of the Army and Navy have. It is the assurance offered to them by the Red Cross. The Home Service Section of the American Red Cross has temporary headquarters at the Postoffice Building's Room 2.

STEADY, BOYS! STEADY!
General Secretary Messenger of Chicago Y. M. C. A. Sounds a Practical Note of Advice.
The Young Men's Christian Association of North America must be guided by wise and fearless pilots through the boisterous seas of the wartime period.
The added responsibility resting upon the directors of home work during the war period must be effectively and intelligently discharged. The Association must mobilize all of its prestige, power and resources for the supreme purpose of becoming a vital factor in the winning of the war.
There must be maintained vital standards and principles which have made possible the present standing and efficiency of the North American Associations. The Association as a whole must be guarded against encroaching influences which will discount and imperil its work with the public at large.
The supervisory, promoting and unified agencies of the Association must be made more rather than less efficient.
Opportunities for new adaptations of the Association message and method in new and important fields of service must be promptly seized.
The Associations must recruit, train and retrain adequate employed and volunteer leadership.
The present financial constituency must be conserved and the number and size of Association contributions must be materially increased.
The Association by a comprehensive program of activities adjusted to meet the present situation, must prove itself worthy of the confidence and expectations of the men who follow the flag as they return from war service.
Steady, Boys! Steady!
Do not be confused or led astray by sentimental or poorly considered influences which are inconsistent with the Association's principles, policies and methods that have been determined through long experience and consecrated leadership.
L. Wilbur Messer.

STARTING A HUT IN FRANCE
Dr. Sweet Details Some of the Problems of War Y. M. C. A. Secretary's Position.
From additional letters written to his Rockland home by Dr. B. V. Sweet, a Y. M. C. A. secretary with the troops in France, The Courier-Gazette is permitted to make excerpts as follows:
May 3.—Two weeks ago yesterday Mr. Sweet, the divisional secretary, brought me out here to look the place over. We decided that this was the place for me, so that afternoon he sent me here with my baggage and I was "plunked down" in a little French town and told to get a Y. M. C. A. into operation as quickly as possible. The only preparations which had been made was the renting of a schoolhouse of two rooms and the engaging of a priest next door. My room is very comfortable and the priest and his housekeeper are very good to me. You would enjoy hearing us talk. It is mostly "hand hugging" but we manage pretty well and get a lot of fun out of it. The priest is helping me with French and I am helping him with English, so perhaps we can really talk to each other before long. I am delighted with my location. It is a beautiful country and the town itself is very interesting. There is a chateau here which has been in the possession of one family for 400 years; and parts of the walls date back much farther than that. The baroness who lives there at present is very good to the men who are stationed here. She is a charming, gracious woman who appreciates fully what America has undertaken. The baron is a colonel and is at the front.
To go into the details of getting the school building in shape for a "Y" would take too long, but I'll try to give an idea of some of the difficulties in attempting anything here now. In the first place, there was no lumber to be had and no transportation facilities if I could find the lumber. But after a good deal of scouting around, I found, in a town about five miles away, some very green lumber and some tent floors. By appropriating most of the lumber and six sections of the tent floors and pressing into service an idle truck we reached home in time for supper. And the first night I locked my school house with enough lumber inside to make a partition, shelves in the canteen, and tables and benches for the reading and writing rooms. Two soldiers were detailed to help me. The next day I was assured the company had plenty of tools; so you can imagine my surprise when they appeared with an old rusty buck saw and a heavy French hammer. The boys had the right spirit though, and as long as one of them had and set to work at once.
Difficulties To Cope With
Green boards and a buck saw make a bad combination, but by night a partition was raised, somewhat across the end of the smaller room, making a very nice canteen. Saturday morning when the boys came they had only the hammer and a broken hand saw—they said someone else needed the buck saw. They didn't say much, but started to work. The spirit of the men here is wonderful—they will tackle anything and "put it over" too. But it made me mad to see them try to saw that green lumber—so green that the sap would spatter out of it when they hit it with a hammer—with only a piece of a handsaw about a foot long. I hunted up the Town Major, a strapping big fellow from Wisconsin, who says he can speak six languages. I don't know that he can speak six, but I discovered that he could speak one very fluently—and with many variations. He came to the schoolhouse and took one look and said:
"Come with me to company headquarters."
In about fifteen minutes we returned with another carpenter two good hand saws, two claw-hammers, a square and a plane. By Saturday night the partition was completed, a good counter had been built and shelves and worktable in the canteen. The boys wanted to finish the job Sunday—they said they would have to work at something anyway and would like to see the "Y" open as soon as possible, so they kept at it until 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon when the tables and benches were completed for the reading room.
It is very difficult to find supplies or equipment of any kind. There are very few shops in the small towns and they are poorly stocked. I have been chasing things down one at a time, like a dog after a rat. My supplies come from our warehouse which is ten or twelve miles away, some of the equipment from another town equally distant, my stove and tools from a town 18 miles beyond that, and after searching for a week I finally secured two large pans for making chocolate in a town half way to Dijon.

When the stock came we covered the rough shelves with the waxed paper from cigarette cartons and fixed up a very neat display. It looked a good deal like a little country store. The first evening we were open, between 7 o'clock and 9:30 we sold 389 francs worth. But the most touching thing was to see how eager the men were for writing paper. Within fifteen minutes after we began giving out paper and envelopes, every table in the two rooms was filled to the limit and everything perfectly quiet. The articles in greatest demand are candy, cookies, chewing tobacco, cigarettes of various kinds, the sweetest services we can render the men is to cash their pay checks, money orders and personal checks from home, for the army seems to make no provision for this, at least, not in small towns like this. But the even more important is the buying of money orders to send back to America. Many of the men are Poles from Wisconsin and they certainly have the saving habit. We were very well satisfied to use candles for a few days until our lights came. When they did come and proved to be gasoline lamps we could set no gasoline. I succeeded in getting nice carbide lamps and a good supply of carbides, but when we had the lamps unpacked we found that they had been shipped without burners, so at the end of two weeks we are still using candles. But we Americans shrug our shoulders as the French do. I say, "It's the war, and we have to make do." For the first time since I landed in France that I really am rendering important service that might otherwise not be done.
May 15.—An order came a day or two ago that made quite a stir, and this morning the place is very quiet, for most of the men have gone and the others are to go in the morning. I'm expecting movement orders any minute. The men are getting up a "fancied" entertainment for this evening and just now are having a dance. You can imagine how it sounds for some of them have on hob-nailed and some rubber hip-boots; but we don't care. The dances are happy, and as long as we can keep them here they are not somewhere else. I keep a ten-quart pail of cold water and a dipper right by the door and they drink two or three pailfuls every day. When they do that I feel pretty good about it. I just have time to get home and settled for the night.
May 16.—Have just received movement orders. I'm to go to the front with the troops that have just left.
The Doctor Comes Under Fire
May 23.—We are settled in our new quarters and have found things very interesting. The indications are that it will be much more so in a week. We are in a little town well over in Germany and just back of the lines. It is very interesting riding or walking about this part of the country, for we pass miles and miles of wire entanglements and old trenches, left from the fighting of two years ago. We also see new trenches and dugouts, and frequently stop along the road to watch the shelling of a Boche plane, sometimes almost directly overhead. The first morning here I was awakened at four o'clock by a lively scrap between some batteries (which are located just back of my hut) and the Boche. The shells from both sides were going right overhead, and to add to the din two or three planes got mixed up in it, so sleep was out of the question. Tuesday morning during the busiest of our rush two planes had a scrap just over the hut and pieces of shrapnel rattled down on the iron roof. I have one of the pieces—my first souvenir of any personal interest.
No doubt you wonder why I have written so little about anything but canteen work, but the facts are that in the little isolated places near the lines the Y. M. C. A. work is limited almost entirely to selling the men supplies.
This afternoon we had occasion to go up to the lines with some papers and magazines. I went out to an advanced machine gun position with one of the runners. The woods were beautiful and the road a quiet winding one—not much more than a path; but as luck would have it, the Boche took a delivered to shell it for our special benefit and I had the experience of being under fire for the first time. It had to come of course and I'm glad it's over with. I don't believe I was more scared than the average, for I have in my pocket a piece of shell which I dug out of a smoking shell hole, and which was still warm when I put it in my pocket.

This is a very quiet sector and there is very little danger connected with my work; but when I tell you that we are not supposed to go out without a helmet and two gas-masks, and have strict orders to wear one mask at "alert" all of the time, that the men and women tilling the fields, and even the children going to school, are equipped with gas masks, you will realize that it isn't just exactly as safe as working in the garden at Rockville.

I have been out to see the boys in the front line—have even been to the very furthest advanced listening post in this sector and have poked my "bean" over the top and taken a good look over into Boche-land. I have gotten a grip on the fellows in this way. I think, could be won in no other, and an very, very happy in the work. The enclosed forced-me-not-I picked on the edge of the front line, trench only 200 yards from the German line.

MR. NORTON'S DEPARTURE
Rockland Man, Leaving For France, Carries Mementoes From Elk Brothers and Associates At the Cobb Shipyard.
Frank C. Norton, left yesterday morning on the initial stage of his journey to France, where he has been assigned to duty as a secretary in the Post Exchange Department of the Y. M. C. A. Before sailing he will receive a brief course of instruction at Columbia University, relative to his new work. Tuesday evening he was a dinner guest of brother Elks at West-sawesong luncheon, and was presented with a fountain pen.
Wednesday noon the 180 employees of the Francis Cobb Shipbuilding Co. gathered in front of the office, and presented a valuable wrist watch to Mr. Norton, who has had a departmental position there for some months. The presentation speech was made in the fine style for which W. H. Simmons is noted, and three rousing cheers were given for Mr. Norton.
Mr. Norton had purchased leaving by Thursday's 40 a. m. train, but being invited to remain to business left early in the morning with A. S. Black in the latter's car, and so was unable to say a good-bye to a number of friends whom he had counted upon seeing Wednesday forenoon—and they were disappointed, for they had intended being at the train and giving him a rousing send-off.

NILO'S FOURTH OF JULY
Oakland Park Heaven On Earth Compared With South Carolina Resort, He Writes.
July Fourth, 1916, and the recollections which it brought of another Independence Day 10 years ago, are described in a chatty letter which has been received by a member of The Courier-Gazette staff from S. Nio Spear, a Rockland boy, who is with the Third Regiment, U. S. N. Training Camp, Charleston, S. C. Mr. Spear thus tells of it:
"Ten years ago today was a day to be well remembered by me. I celebrated by lighting two pounds of black powder with a match. It was a great sensation, I didn't see a thing but stars for a week.
"I celebrated the Fourth this year by going to a summer resort called the Isle of Palms, the boys call it the Isle of Prunes. Oakland Park is a heaven on earth compared with it. I had just two reports from fire crackers. The town was more than quiet. It reminded me of home—it was so different. I met Harold Robbins sitting in Battery Park, dreaming of home. He was on a 48 hour liberty. He was satisfied with 12 though. He is still in the same regiment with me. We swap Courier-Gazettes and news from home. We are still waiting for a chance to get to the Aviation motor school at Pensacola. By the time the war is over, we will be expert stevedores."

TO DEDICATE A PINE
As Living Memorial To Gen. Henry Knox—Interesting Expressions Planned.
The members of the Knox Academy of Arts and Sciences are to celebrate the birthday of Gen. Henry Knox, July 25, by dedicating a big pine in the Knox Arboretum as a living monument to his memory.
Rev. Pliny A. Allen, vice president of the Academy will deliver the address of welcome.
Hon. John Francis Sprague of Dover, Maine's Historian, will deliver the dedicatory address. Hon. Reuel Robinson of Camden will read a paper on "Knox" and patriotic selections will be sung by a community chorus.

Jones' strawberry ice cream is manufactured from the choice berries raised on the Lufkin farm.
YOUR FAVORITE POEM
Old-fashioned poetry, but choice good.—Isaac Walton.
TO DAFFODILS
Fair daffodils, we weep to see You have away so soon. As yet the early-rising sun Has gleamed on the hillside: Stay, stay Until the hastening day Has run. But to the even-song: And have you proved together, we Will go with you along. We have short time to stay as you. We have as short a Spring. As quick a growth to meet decay. As you, or anything. We die As your hours do; and dry Away Like to the Summer's rain, Or as the pearls of morning dew: Ne'er to be found again.—Robert Herrick.

ARE YOU BUYING WAR STAMPS?

The local canvassing committees report steady sales of War Stamps, in some instances most gratifying responses being made to the invitation to invest in this handsome Government security. The efforts of the loyal committees are not slackening, but it is proper to urge upon some citizens who have not yet responded to invitation that their co-operation is earnestly desired and recommended. To refuse entirely to buy this War Stamp bond is to unpleasantly advertise oneself as unwilling to lift the just another bit in this time of great world stress. A War Stamp earns the investor 4 per cent compounded and this money can be had back anytime. In such case it is a pretty crusty person who will not help the soliciting committee at least to some extent.

The Knox county banks are now prepared to lend their assistance to the holders of Liberty Bonds of the first and second issues and those obtained by converting bonds of the first issue into 4% bonds, which can be converted into 4% Liberty bonds during the six months' period beginning May 9 and ending Nov. 9, 1918. The new bonds will be dated May 9, 1918. After Nov. 9, 1918, no further rights of conversion will attach to the 4% bonds, either the original bonds of the second loan or those obtained by conversion of bonds of the first loan. All of the 4% bonds are inconvertible. Bonds for conversion may be surrendered at any Federal reserve bank or at the Treasury Department. Registered bonds must be assigned to the Secretary of the Treasury for conversion, but such assignment need not be witnessed. On conversion of registered bonds registered bonds only will be delivered, neither change of ownership nor change into coupon bonds being permitted. Coupon bonds, however, may be converted into registered bonds upon request. Coupon bonds must have the May 15 or June 15, 1918, coupons detached and all subsequent coupons attached. Coupon bonds issued from conversion will have only four interest bonds attached, and later must be exchanged for new bonds with the full number of coupons attached.

MORE DRAFTS SELECTED

For the Contingent Which Will Go To Camp Devens July 26—New Rule Regarding Enlistments.

Twenty-one members of the next Camp Devens contingent have been selected thus far. The drafts added since our Tuesday issue are: Alfred Davis, Rockland; William H. Jones, Washington; Herman H. Graves, Union; Ralph L. Brown, Vinalhaven; Frank H. Brown, Vinalhaven; William A. Ordway, Camden; George L. Ring, Matineus; John C. Pushrow, Union; George W. Geary, Vinalhaven; Alfred H. Morton of Friendship has been eliminated from the list of drafts named in our Tuesday issue as having been selected for the July 26 contingent.

Instructions have been sent by Provost Marshal General Crowder to all local draft boards ordering the cessation of the privilege hitherto granted registered men of selecting the arm of the service in which they desire to enlist when volunteering. It was learned officially, however, that no action has been taken to stop the voluntary enlistment in the navy of men of class one.

National War Savings Day is only one day; our men in the Army and Navy have their day every day.

THE voice of prudence calls loudly to you to buy your clothes now before the price again advances. This is war time and if you have read history, you know what happens to the price of cloth.

Clothes are undoubtedly cheaper today than they will be next month or next fall.

Everything that goes into a good suit is increasing in price every day.

There is one satisfaction, styles were never so becoming and so practical.

[For The Courier-Gazette]
When our boys are in the trenches and in training at the camps, then the leaders on the benches are no better than the troops. They must just get up and hustle. And dedicate their muscle. To the work, and push and hustle. When our boys are in the trenches and in training at the camps.

PARK THEATRE

Hoyt's Musical Revue which has been delighting the eye and ear at Park Theatre all the week, closes its engagement tomorrow. Harry Morris, the clever Jew impersonator, is giving Rockland people more laughs than they have had for many a long day, and he is surrounded by a company which can give full meaning to the words melody and mirth. Today's feature picture introduces Mrs. Vernon Castle in "Convict 999," and the title gives hint to a very interesting plot. Tomorrow's feature is "Rimrock Jones," and the public's desire to again see Wallace Reid will be gratified, for he is the star. Andy McBain, the clever crook lawyer of the town stole one mine from Rimrock and tried to make a "get-away" with a second one. A clever "dead" stenographer, with her woman's wit and intuition, comes to the rescue of the hero and helps him in a struggle for his mimes. Unknown to anyone she takes the long journey to New York, has a specialist perform an operation on her ears, which has restored her hearing, and while pretending to be still deaf, she helps Rimrock fight it out against the combined wiles of a Wall Street financier, two of the country's well-known lawyers and one of the crooks of the "big town," and plays the final winning card in the game.

Douglas Fairbanks will fill the theatre Monday and Tuesday, as he always does. The picture title is "Reaching for the Moon." One of the most terrific fights ever seen on a screen takes place in the palace, in which Fairbanks battles with a half dozen men seeking his life. Vases and statuary are demolished, beautiful draperies ruined and costly furniture wrecked.—adv.

WARREN

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hahn of Gardiner, who have been guests of Mr. Hahn's mother, Mrs. Jane Hahn, the past two weeks, returned to Gardiner Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maynard and Miss Dorothy Percy of Springfield, Mass., who have been guests of their brother and wife, Frank Percy, over the Fourth, returned home Wednesday.

Mrs. Fred Moore, who was operated on at Knox Hospital recently, is making rapid recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hahn, daughter Harriet and son Charles Jr. and Frederick, and Mrs. Pauline Varney and sister Alice Bay, of Belfast, spent the Fourth with Mr. Hahn's mother, Mrs. Jane Hahn.

Miss Clara Hosmer is much better at this writing.

Mrs. Ina Averill and sister Susie Castro, spent the week-end at Mrs. Averill's husband at Camp Devens.

Harland Benner and Mrs. Flora Jones, who have been at Rockland Hospital for treatment, are expected home this week.

Mrs. Frank Davis is enjoying a two weeks vacation.

Leo Simmons is training at Camp Devens.

NAVIGATORS ARE WANTED

And the Government's Free School in Rockland is Turning 'Em Out Rapidly.

"There's a steady demand for men holding mates' licenses," says Capt. Charles R. Magee, instructor of the government's Free Navigation School in Rockland. This school is doing its best to meet the emergency, having graduated nearly 100 students in its single year of existence.

That the Rockland school will continue to be an important factor in equipping the merchant marine with officers for steamships is evident from the fact that there are 25 students in the school at the present time; 15 applications for admission to the school have been approved, and more applications are being received by Capt. Magee constantly. The mails brought him seven such applications within 24 hours.

The graduates who have just returned from Bangor, successfully passing the federal steamboat inspectors' ordeal are Capt. James W. Roper, Brooksville; Herbert Spear, Rockport; Clyde Marshall, Deer Isle; Marshall F. Coombs, Vinalhaven; Earle B. Drinkwater, Leslie L. Clark and A. M. Ripley, Rockland. Their certificates are daily expected.

Another class graduated this week, and the following men will go before the federal steamboat inspectors in Bangor next week: Capt. Herbert Quinn, Bucksport; Capt. Herbert Hulterson, Brooksville; Francis Dow, North Brooksville; Walter Stanley, Cranberry Isle; Harold C. Philbrook, Edward B. Gonia and William Fifield, Rockland.

New students admitted this week are Brooks G. Cousins, Brooksville; Oscar M. Nicholson, Brookline.

The graduates are promptly placed in responsible and lucrative positions. Herbert Colcord of Searsport, Capt. S. J. Treavor, Surry, and John T. Jermyn of Rockland are chief mates on steamships; Colcord of Bangor, P. Lester Shaw of Milbridge and Ross L. Wilson of Thomaston are second mates on steamships and Earl A. Starrett of Thomaston is third mate of a steamship.

AS TO CHEAPER FISH

Food Administration Lists Sea Food Which Should Be Cheap This Summer.

About the middle of May the Food Administration, in view of the low wholesale price of certain varieties of fish on the Atlantic coast, suggested that during the season from May to December retailers should be able to sell at the retail price these varieties daily at 10 cents a pound, or under.

The Food Administration is now making an investigation of the retail end of the fish business with the idea of finding out what varieties are being sold in the worst cases. The success is being attained as a result of the special low-price offer on certain kinds. During July and, in fact, all through the summer points within easy shipping distance of the Atlantic coast should find a number of varieties at attractive prices. Prices go up and down, to be sure, as a result of fluctuations in supply, U-boat activities and other causes, but some one or more kinds of fish will nearly always be on hand in plentiful quantities.

Those in the following list may be expected to be cheaper than many of the varieties with which most consumers are more familiar: Whiting, croakers, herring, salt herring, spotted trout (small), ling, blue whiting, medium hake, market cod, scrod cod, scrod haddock, gray-fish, flounders, small shad (known as jacks or skips), squid, small Boston mackerel, tinker mackerel, drum, shark, spots, sea robins, menhaden.

WILL HAVE LOW HEELS

Women's Footwear Will See Changes Next Spring Because of the War.

"High shoes of various shades will continue in vogue for women and misses the coming winter, but next spring will see marked changes in shapes and colors, as a result of the war. This was pointed out by speakers at the annual shoe and leather style show in Boston Tuesday which was attended by dealers from all parts of the country.

Under the rules issued to shoe manufacturers by the war industries board it was explained the spring styles of 1919 will be in two shades of brown, in black and in white. No shoe will be more than 8 inches in height. Heels will be low and curved, which grace the heels of present styles will be missing.

Take a Sunshine Tablet for Thy Stomach's Sake

There never was such a marvelous prescription for stomach distress and indigestion as Mi-o-na.

No doctor ever wrote a better one: It's doubtful if any doctor ever will. It's so good that Wm. H. Kirtledge and Pendleton Pharmacy say money back if it doesn't relieve.

A woman in Maine calls Mi-o-na, the sunshine prescription because she has seen so many sour, miserable, aggravating, dyspeptic turned into happy, cheerful, sweet human beings in a few days by taking Mi-o-na.

The stomach is responsible for three-fourths of the nervousness and half the misery of the world. A woman can have a first-class stomach and yet be miserable if she has a husband who is a nervous dyspeptic.

If you have indigestion, belching of gas, heaviness after eating, drowsy sensation after eating, sour stomach or any miserable stomach disturbance, the prescription called Mi-o-na will put you right, and bring sunshine into your life in a week.

A large box of Mi-o-na tablets cost only 60 cents at Wm. H. Kirtledge's and Pendleton Pharmacy, and by leading druggists everywhere. They are small and easy to swallow.

"WATCH YOUR SUGAR SPOON"

Food Administration Offers Sensible Advice—Entitled To Extra Sugar Supply For Home Canning.

"You are entitled to an extra amount of sugar these days for home canning. Do not let this privilege tempt you to do a wrong to your neighbor and your country." This is a message from the National Food Administration to Maine housewives, received at the headquarters of the Food Administration here.

"Don't hoard sugar," the message continues, "buy it as you need it and keep your canning supply separate from your table and cooking sugar, keeping the latter strictly within the three pounds per month per person limit, or cutting this allowance down even more if you can. In buying your canning sugar in 25 pound lots the government has your written promise that you will not use any of such sugar for other than canning or preserving purposes. Do not break your promise. Buy your table and cooking sugar in two pound lots, according to the regulations, and make your purchases just as few and far between as possible. Because of the lack of ships

The Lawrence Canning Co. shipped a consignment of 1500 cases of sardines to California parties Wednesday.

The concern has about 150 persons on its payroll at the present time, and its pack is well up to last season's, although the general verdict is that the Maine coast pack is 200,000 cases short of a year ago.

Sam E. Conner, who recently resigned his position as private secretary to Senator Fernald, was in the city Wednesday seeking wild and woolly news items for the Lewiston Journal.

The Philadelphia Style Stock Ale, which was recently seized at Hewitt Bottling Works, and G. E. McLaughlin's, was in court again yesterday, figuratively speaking, when there was a hearing on the libel.

The usual claim was made for the restoration of the seized beverage, but Judge Miller denied the claim and an appeal was taken.

The entire matter will thus be washed out in the upper court. The claimants were represented by E. C. Payson, and the brewery company by Attorney Murray of Bangor.

There had previously been a hearing on the Dondis and Pollock libels, but no claim was made for the small amounts of liquor seized and both were ordered spilled.

Two members of the local fire department were "passing ball" in front of the Central Fire Station Tuesday night when a tall stranger stopped to watch the diversion.

One of the fire laddies was making valiant efforts to throw a curve, but either didn't hold his mouth right or the ball right.

"Perhaps I can show you," remarked the stranger. The fireman handed the ball to him, and the stranger explained how the ball should be grasped.

By the unknown, unskilled his pitching arm, and the ball went like a shot at the catcher's head.

Just before it got there, however, the sphere shot to the ground as if it had been drawn by a magnet, and the look on the beholder's catcher's features was a study.

"Say, feller!" he exclaimed, "where the devil did you come from?"

Later he learned that the tall stranger was Harry L. Sanborn, the new director of Fisheries, who helped bring a petulant to Vinhaven by his skill as a pitcher.

THE LIBERTY CHORUS

Liberty Chorus next Sunday meets at the Universalist church and will doubtless command large attendance.

Special notes of interest will be supplied, it being July 14, which is the national independence day of France, and is to be quite generally recognized in this country.

It is expected that Mrs. Nellie Cole Howard will sing "The Marseilles." The soloist of the program will be Miss Edith Castle, contralto.

There will sing four numbers, and the chorus will have the usual good time under Director Osborne. A feature of unusual character will be an address by Dr. Philip L. Frick, a noted western divine and striking platform speaker.

Dr. Frick is the pastor of the leading Methodist church in Indiana and is to speak upon "The New World," dealing with what is to follow throughout the world when the dreadful war gives way to peace.

A speaker of the reputation of Dr. Frick will add interest and variety to the usual Liberty Chorus program.

Rockland grocers have voluntarily adopted the card system and beginning Monday, July 15, will sell sugar only to customers presenting cards at time of purchase.

By an arrangement with the city officials cards will be issued under the direction of the City Clerk, during the usual office hours of 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

from the Board of Registration room, city building, Spring street, upon application. These cards will be issued for a six months' period, and will show the maximum amount each holder is entitled to monthly.

Upon presentation to any grocer not exceeding one week's supply may be purchased, which amount is punched upon the card, and no dealer is allowed to sell in any one month, an amount greater than that indicated.

This card indicates everyone alike, and its fairness should insure its ready acceptance by all parties concerned.

Arthur L. Orne, Food Administrator for Knox County.

WITH THE CHURCHES

EMPIRE THEATRE

Patrons of this picture house are realizing with each new episode that "The Lion's Claw" is a wonderful serial, and they marvel at the wonderful animal scenes. The weekly installments are shown Fridays and Saturdays, and the one now on is one of the most striking in the series.

With it is a fine Universal feature and a very funny comedy.

"Ann's Finish," which will be the feature for Monday and Tuesday is a good story, which deals with war brides, sunken transports and a boarding school girl, "Anna Anderson," who is expelled from one school after another.

Margaret Fisher appears in the title role. Alma Rubens stars next Wednesday and Thursday in "I Love You"—adv.

UNDER THE BLUE AWNING

Selling for Cash and Selling Good Goods

There are only two kinds of Grocers—Cash Grocers and Charge Grocers.

With the former, all sales are for Cash, and can be made lower than the charge grocer, as the charge grocer keeps books, makes deliveries and loses many accounts.

Why should you help pay those losses?

Buy for cash, carry your own goods and save.

The Collection of "Slow" Telephone Accounts

THE PURPOSE OF THIS ANNOUNCEMENT is to show that it is desirable, particularly at this time, to save the time and labor that is expended in collecting bills that remain unpaid after the lapse of a reasonable period of time.

BILLS ARE DUE when rendered on the first day of each month, and while most telephone accounts are paid promptly, there are a number of "slow" accounts that require labor, time and expense that might be devoted to other work that is more directly in the interest of the public's telephone service.

WE BELIEVE that this method of bringing the matter to the attention of the public, this frank and open discussion of our aims, is all that is necessary to secure proper understanding and co-operation.

WAR GARDEN HINTS

Wilt and Cucumber Wilt Due To Appear—The Moral Is: Spray Well.—The Cherry Tree Ugly Nest.

Potato blight and bean anthracnose or "rust" have already made their appearance in the gardens and the pea wilt and cucumber wilt will show up pretty soon. The wet muggy weather of the last two weeks has been just what they needed to get a good start. You have not seen them yet that they are not there or that you will not have them for the chances are all against it. If you do not have these particular ones you are sure to have others. And of course the potato bugs and the cucumber beetles and all their brethren are present or accounted for.

One or two sprayings ought to, have been made before this but it isn't too late to begin now if it is done thoroughly and well. Don't use substitutes and do the work carefully and not haphazard and blame the loss on the spray.

Mix your Bordeaux and be sure of it. Use a sprayer that throws a fine mist.

Make sure that the mist covers every leaf of every plant.

Put the spray on regularly every week or ten days or after every rain, if you need or would like any help in preparing or using any spray or if you have any other trouble in the garden call on Mr. Danforth the "war-garden man."

Be sure to stir up the surface soil of your garden just as soon as it can be worked after each rain to hold all the moisture you can.

The sudden appearance and rapid spread of the caterpillar which has made the great ugly nests on the wild cherry bushes all over the county has caused a lot of speculation as to its identity and a fear that it might become a destructive pest. In a letter at the Maine Experiment Station sends to Mr. Danforth, the war-garden agent the following description and identification.

"Great, unsightly, more or less pyramid shaped webs of the Cherry tree Tortrix are frequently exceedingly numerous both upon wild and cultivated cherry trees. They attack the raspberry and apple in Maine also, although they are rarely numerous except on the cherry."

"The caterpillars which feed inside these inclosures are, when grown, about five-eighths of an inch long. They are yellow with black heads. The anterior portion of the second segment and the posterior portion of the caudal segment are black as are also the three pairs of true feet. The caterpillars change to pupae inside the nest. During the latter part of the summer the moths emerge. The moths have an wing expanse of about one inch. The fore wings are broad and somewhat rounded near the base. They are bright ochre yellow in color varied with dark spots and irregular wavy lead colored bands. The hind wings and the entire under surface are pale ochre yellow."

"Remedial Measures: There is but one way to combat this insect and that is to destroy the nests while the caterpillars or pupae are still within before the moths emerge. The nests may be cut out and burned, or if on worthless trees, saturated with kerosene."

"Several dipterous and hymenopterous parasites are at work against this insect and many of the new nests yield almost as many parasitic flies and ichneumons as they do moths. The ordinary history of the insect is that it is likely to spread badly for a few seasons and then fall victim to natural enemies, birds, insect parasites and disease."

ATLANTIC

Mrs. W. W. Buckler and family of Baltimore have rented the house of Capt. Emory Joyce for the summer.

Miss Wilson and friends of Baltimore are occupying the Wilson cottage on Placencia Sound.

Mrs. H. L. Dodd and friends from Wellesley Hills, Mass., are occupying their house on the Point.

H. B. Rich and family of Reading, Penn., are expected soon at the Carpenter cottage.

The Four Minute Men were obliged to postpone their regular Monday entertainment on account of non-arrival of war-slides from Washington. Next Monday they will show slides loaned by Bowdoin College, depicting the works of Michael Angelo with accompanying lecture and talks.

On the Fourth the Four Minute Men delivered President Wilson's message. Orrin Mill spoke at the Red Men's hall.

Walter Joyce at the I. O. O. F. hall, Harry Johnson at the Minton gathering, and Dr. Gage at Atlantic.

"The Meaning of America" is the subject matter for the period July 1-20. The 35,000 Four Minute Men will trace the struggle for human liberty from the ancient Anglo-Saxon down to present day democracy in the United States.

Official Washington expects that this campaign will do much to swell the national will-to-win against the threatening triumvirate of Kaiser, Krupp and Kultur.

"The Splash Heard Round the World" reached Swan's Island and there is talk of building a large vessel on the island, skill and labor for that line of work being right on the spot.

The long-continued easterly with its fog and rain has been a serious setback to the fishermen, and but few fish have been brought in. An offshore wind will be welcomed.

Summer visitors continue to come to the island in spite of the cool weather.

JUDGE HANSON REAPPOINTED

Able Calais Jurist is Retained On Supreme Bench—Gov. Milliken's Fifth Appointment.

Gov. Milliken has nominated Hon. George M. Hanson of Calais as an associate justice of the Supreme Judicial Court. The present term of Justice Hanson will expire July 26. He was appointed July 26, 1911, by Gov. Frederick W. Plafie to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Chief Justice Lucius A. Emery of Ellsworth. Justice Hanson is a former mayor of Calais, former collector of customs at Calais, was the Democratic nominee for Congress in the fourth district in 1900, and has been the supreme chancellor commander of the Knights of Pythias of the World.

The re-appointment of Justice Hanson is the fifth appointment to the highest court of the State that has been made by Gov. Milliken. The first came at the time of the death of Hon. Albert R. Savage of Auburn, the chief justice. The term of the chief justice would have expired May, 1918. On his death, Hon. Leslie C. Cornish of Augusta was elevated to be chief justice and Hon. Albert M. Spear of Gardiner was appointed to fill the vacancy. When Hon. John B. Madigan of Houlton died, Hon. Charles J. Dunn of Orono was named as his successor, and on the death of Hon. George F. Haley of Saco, Hon. John A. Morrill of Auburn was appointed to the bench. The record of five appointments to the Supreme Judicial Court in one gubernatorial term is thought to be unprecedented. The next expiration of a term of a member of the Supreme Judicial Court is that of Hon. Warren C. Philbrook of Waterville April 3, 1920.

Conversion of Liberty Loan BONDS

In consequence of the issue of the Third Liberty Loan, bearing interest at 4 1/2%, holders of the First Liberty Loan 3 1/2% bonds and First Liberty Loan converted 4% bonds and Second Liberty Loan 4% Bonds are now entitled to convert these issues into bonds bearing the higher rate—4 1/2%.

The terms of the 4 1/2% issue into which these bonds may be converted will be identical with the bonds of the Third Liberty Loan 4 1/2% bonds, except that the maturity date of principal of original issue attaches to bonds into which they may be converted. They will also bear the same dates of payment of interest as original issue. The conversion privilege must be exercised prior to November 9, 1918, after which date the privilege lapses.

We will arrange for an exchange for customers who so desire. Bonds must be sent to us.

WILSON-JACOBS

An Interesting Naval Wedding in Thomaston—Bridgroom, Ensign Wilson, in Aviation Service.

A naval wedding of more than local interest took place in Thomaston Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Lucy Emily Jacobs of Rochester, N. Y., was united in marriage to Ensign Earle Francis Wilson of the United States Naval Reserve Flying Corps.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. John Levensaler, Gleason street, by Rev. Dr. W. A. Newcombe, the single ring service being used. The bride was attended by Miss Edith Wilson, a sister of the bridegroom, and the groomsmen was Lionel C. Wilson, the bridegroom's brother; also in naval uniform.

Before the ceremony Mrs. Stanley Gushing sang "At Dawning," by George and "Knap a Lovely Garden," by D'Hardist, and Lionel C. Wilson sang "The Sunshine of Your Smile," by Lillian Day, and "O Love, Stay by Me," by Arthur Foote. The bride wore a lovely gown of white tulle with a train, and a patriotic wedding march which was played by Miss Frances Shaw.

The parlor was artistically decorated with great jardinières of magnolia, peonies, and in the bay window, where the ceremony was performed, the American flag was displayed, with festoons of garlands and a beautiful arrangement of red, white and blue flowers.

The bride was charmingly crowned in white gossamer crepe, with wood embroidery, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and maidenhair fern. The bridesmaid's gown was white silk with silver lace and pink mullins, and she carried pink peonies.

Miss Madeline Elliot was present at the wedding and at the reception. Following the reception, refreshments were served.

Those who attended from a distance were Mrs. Sarah H. Jacobs of Rochester, N. Y., Eugene Jacobs of Boston, Mass., Fred J. Overlock and Mrs. Byron L. Wilson of Portland.

Not Well Enough Known
We cannot emphasize enough the treatment of dyspepsia, however much we may temporarily relieve its symptoms so long as the blood remains impure. It is a fact not well enough known by people generally that when the stomach, liver and other digestive organs are supplied with impure blood, the digestive process is impaired, so as to cause fatness and loss of appetite and sometimes a deranged state of the intestines, and in general all the symptoms of dyspepsia.

Head's Sarsaparilla is of great service in dyspepsia, because it purifies the blood, making it the healthy stimulus the digestive organs need for the proper performance of their duties. Head's Sarsaparilla especially takes the little red blood cells, which are the cause of the trouble, and gives them a "magic touch" in dyspepsia. Get it today.

The stockholders of the Knox Woolen Co. are hereby notified that their annual meeting will be held at their office in Camden Wednesday, July 24, 1918, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, for election of directors and to transact any other business that may come before them.

FOURTH AT CRIVHAVEN

Community Club Dinner Netted $47.35

—Facts Regarding Celebration.

The arrangements for the dinner and sports which were in charge of Fred S. Rhodes, were successfully carried out, and at the next annual meeting of the Club, July 16, it will have $50, in the treasury, with debts paid and property valued at $2,000.

Change of dinner, Mrs. Watson Barter and Mrs. Peter C. Mitchell; waiting on tables, Misses Olive Rhodes, Lorea Jameson, Margaret Simpson, Lottie Simpson, Alice Tupper and Mrs. Florence Erickson. Gentlemen who assisted were Mr. Charles Bray and Mr. Edward Wilson, who also had charge of making and serving ice cream. Lobsters for the dinner which was made by Mrs. Samuel Tupper, were contributed by fishermen, and fish for the fish chowder by Mrs. E. C. Grier. Fred S. Rhodes furnished salmon and green peas, and various kinds of cakes and pies came from ladies of the Club. A number from Rockland and a good representation from Madeline and Marjorie Rock were present and to say they enjoyed the menu is putting it mildly.

Winners of sporting events were as follows: Fat men's race, Cyrus Hill of Madeline Rock, Tue-of-war, Clayton Woodruff of Crivhaven team, who is stationed at Madeline Rock Light. Potato race, Miss Dorothy Simpson. Foot race, Miss Hill of Madeline Rock. Three-legged race for boys, Leonard Jameson. Three-legged race for men, Mr. John Fred W. N. Woodruff. Canoe race, Rockland, Tub race, Fred S. Rhodes—and the upsetting of the canoe in the harbor by Mr. Rhodes, who also succeeded in righting it and getting in, was the cause of much merriment. The race was held on Monday, July 8, and was won by Mr. Rhodes, who was participated in by Guy Simpson, Ellis Simpson and Leland Wilson, the former winning. All prizes consisted of medals, the judges being Fred Simpson, Peter Mitchell and John Anderson.

Dancing was the evening attraction, Leland Wilson being in charge. Music was furnished by Misses Olive Rhodes and Lorea Jameson, violin—with piano accompaniment. Girls danced with one another in many instances as only two single fellows were present on the platform—Guy Simpson and Leland Wilson—the following young men being in the service: Ira W. Tupper, Ralph Wilson, Roy Simpson, H. J. McElure, Paul Putnam, Leslie Wilson, William Ward and Fred Wilson.

Capt. Bulsen delayed his return trip, which all greatly appreciated, and many kindnesses were shown visitors by Postmaster Eben W. Crie as well as other residents.

Fourth, as no fireworks were in evidence and about all the noise was the ringing of the schoolhouse bell, music by a cornet and the parading back and forth on the main thoroughfare of an old Cavalry band, led by Guy Simpson and Leland Wilson, which was a sight to behold, and made up the entire parade.

Are the Packers Profiteers?

Plain Facts About the Meat Business

The Federal Trade Commission in its recent report on war profits, stated that the five large meat packers have been profiteering and that they have a monopoly of the market. These conclusions, if fair and just, are matters of serious concern not only to those engaged in the meat packing business but to every other citizen of our country. The figures given on profits are misleading and the statement that the packers have a monopoly is unsupported by the facts.

The packers mentioned in the report stand ready to prove their profits reasonable and necessary.

The meat business is one of the largest American industries. Any citizen who would familiarize himself with its details must be prepared for large totals.

The report states that the aggregate profits of four large packers were $140,000,000 for the three war years. This sum is compared with $19,000,000 as the average annual profit for the three years before the war, making it appear that the war profit was $121,000,000 greater than the pre-war profit.

This compares a three-year profit with a one-year profit—a manifestly unfair method of comparison. It is not only misleading, but the Federal Trade Commission apparently has made a mistake in the figures themselves.

The aggregate three-year profit of $140,000,000 was earned on sales of over four and a half billion dollars. It means about three cents on each dollar of sales—or a mere fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Packers' profits are a negligible factor in prices of live stock and meats. No other large business is conducted upon such small margins of profit.

Furthermore—and this is very important—only a small portion of this profit has been paid in dividends. The balance has been put back into the businesses. It had to be, as you realize when you consider the problems the packers have had to solve—and solve quickly—during these war years.

To conduct this business in war times, with higher costs and the necessity of paying two or three times the former prices for live stock, has required the use of two or three times the ordinary amount of working capital. The additional profit makes only a fair return for this, and as has been stated, the larger portion of the profits earned has been used to finance huge stocks of goods and to provide additions and improvements made necessary by the enormous demands of our army and navy and the Allies.

If you are a business man you will appreciate the significance of these facts. If you are unacquainted with business, talk this matter over with some business acquaintance—with your banker, say—and ask him to compare profits of the packing industry with those of any other large industry at the present time.

No evidence is offered by the Federal Trade Commission in support of the statement that the large packers have a monopoly. The Commission's own report shows the large number and importance of other packers.

The packers mentioned in the statement stand ready to prove to any fair minded person that they are in keen competition with each other, and that they have no power to manipulate prices.

If this were not true they would not dare to make this positive statement.

Furthermore, government figures show that the five large packers mentioned in the report account for only about one-third of the meat business of the country.

They wish it were possible to interest you in the details of their business. Of how, for instance, they can sell dressed beef for less than the cost of the live animal, owing to utilization of by-products, and of the wonderful story of the methods of distribution throughout this broad land, as well as in other countries.

The five packers mentioned feel justified in co-operating with each other to the extent of together presenting this public statement.

They have been able to do a big job for your government in its time of need; they have met all war-time demands promptly and completely and they are willing to trust their case to the fairmindedness of the American people with the facts before them.

Feel Better

It's great to feel better after many weeks of depression, languor, backache, headache, no appetite, and such miserable nights. In many cases these symptoms result from wrong eating and neglect of the daily action of the bowels. You can readily prove this by trying the genuine "L.F." Atwood's Medicine. Take a teaspoonful in a glass of water an hour before breakfast, and a smaller amount after meals, if you are distressed. Eat slowly of plain food, drink sparingly of mild coffee and tea, more water at bed-time with a little L.F. Atwood's Medicine. You will feel better in a day or two and in a few weeks wonderfully improved. Buy today of your dealer, the true "L.F." made by the L. F. Medicine Co., Portland, Me.

Gray Hair and Hair Health. A very mercurial preparation for restoring natural color to gray or faded hair, for removing dandruff and as a hair dressing. Is not a dye. Genuine steel bottles at all dealers. Write to us when you get it. TRILLO HAY CO. NEWARK, N. J.
